Special Guest: Contemporary Christian singer-songwriter: Jason Gray & Fort Wayne Native and Voice Contestant: Christiana Danielle

Jason Gray is no stranger to heavy times of darkness. The worst was during a time when his stepfather was battling cancer, and he and Jason's mom were losing their house as a result of the medical bills. Jason was trying to help them, but he was also faced with the breakup of his own home, and trying to balance the demands of providing for his family as a touring recording artist with being, for the first time in his life, a single dad. The notion that God takes our hurts and brokenness and uses them a means of grace to which we offer His hope and healing to others is what inspired his latest album, "Where Light Gets in."

Christiana Danielle is a Fort Wayne native who was top 10 on NBC's The Voice. She engages in various musical opportunities within her community, including singing in church, hospitals, youth centers and facilities for the elderly. Music was an integral part of her life, but all that came to a halt when a mysterious throat virus resulted in emergency surgery. Christiana was told she would never sing again. Vowing to recover, Christiana miraculously regained her voice and devoted her life to giving back through music. Recently earning a degree in social work, Christiana strives to bring awareness to mental health issues and the power of music to underserved communities. She was an intern and still currently volunteers at The Charis House, a ministry of The Rescue Mission.
